THE WASH-HOUSE DANGER.

The Journal this morning prints an article portraying the danger of tolerating Chinese wash-houses in the most populous portions of Reno. A similar article was prepared for the columns of the GAZETTE yesterday, but was crowded out by a press of advertisements. The coincidence in this respect shows that the danger is apparent to more than one person. It behooves the people of Reno, as the protectors of their own lives and property, to consider this matter one of urgent importance, and to guard against the fire-flood which has devastated this town so often. No restrictions are placed on Chinese fire-traps. They locate where they please, so long as they do not encroach upon other's territory. The laundryman who was burned out on Virginia street a few days ago has reopened a wash-house in a very combustible neighborhood in the rear of the theater, where a fire once started would lick up everything to the east and south of it. Chinamen are notoriously careless with fire. They have nothing but a few pots to lose, and are utterly unmindful of the safety of property. J. L. Durkee, Fire Marshal of San Francisco, in one of his reports, said: "The Chinese wash-house is a nuisance which should be abated. At least one-half the fires originate directly or indirectly from them." There is danger in the air so long as the careless Chinaman is tolerated in the closely-built limits of Reno, and to permit them to remain is to court a wide-spread conflagration, when a fire and a gale of wind occur simultaneously.

OUR SCHOOL NEEDS.

The public schools of Reno do not stand as high as they should in the educational scale. There has not been that close watch kept over the management that is essential nor the wise administration necessary to correct discipline and high training. This is not perhaps the fault of the trustees or the officers, for it not only requires peculiar talents but a considerable expenditure of time, which those placed in authority have not had leisure to devote to it. A hard pressed man of business feels the loss of an hour's time and the public has not been over generous in their recognition of the efforts of the trustees, who work for nothing, or the teachers, who receive only workman's wages. If the people will listen to the GAZETTE on this most important matter they will try to get some man in the Board who is fitted by education and energy to inspire a greater zeal in the teachers and scholars and keep all parts of the educational machine well polished and keyed up for its best work. If the public could get a man like B. F. Leeke interested in the matter and elect him as a trustee, then put Rev. Mr. Jenvey in as County Superintendent and C. S. Young as State Superintendent, there would be an advance that would astonish everyone.

The stalwarts of Pennsylvania are about to sit down upon Don Cameron in a positive manner. They cannot longer stand his dictatorial arrogance. Taken altogether, the political aspect of the Quaker State is variegated.

The Carson Mint investigation fades away into a hardly discernible fizzle. The spleenetic spite of discharged employees has cost the Government quite a sum of money.

At Syracuse, N. Y., on Saturday, Mamie Lyons, aged 4 years, was sent for whisky to a neighbor, and drank enough to kill her.

A negro outraged a white girl at Comanche, Texas, yesterday. A posse followed him ten miles, captured and lynched him.

The Berlin North German Gazette says that Bismarck, acting under medical advice, will for the present abstain from the transaction of public business.

THE DENVER EXPOSITION.

The First and Largest Display of the Kind in the World.

PART I.

In all respects the bantling city of Denver is admirably suited to be the site of a mineral display upon a large scale. It is accessible both to the mineral regions and to the sight-seers. Several lines of railroad make daily connections with the East. The Great Union Depot is a scene of ceaseless activity—persons from every State in the Union and from every nation under the sun may be seen passing under its portals. Not only is Denver thus within reach of the tourist, but it lies midway among the great mineral producing States and territories, and is the principal city in the leading mineral State. In his oration delivered upon the occasion of laying the corner stone of the Exposition building, Hon. Thos. M. Patterson said: "For the same period of twelve years the struggle for supremacy in the contest of the precious metals had been with California and Nevada. Like well matched athletes, now one seemed to prevail and now the other. Colorado, though robust and aspiring, seemed a pigmy beside these giants, but in 1879 she took up the gauntlet, and from a product of $8,000,000 the preceding year, that year came to the front with more than $17,000,000."

CALIFORNIA'S WEALTH.

California gave to the world the same year $18,000,000, and Nevada contributed nearly $22,000,000. But their insignificant triumph of that year was their last. The infant had grown into a man, aye, it became a giant, for in 1880 Colorado, from its river beds and mountains made the world richer by $23,000,000, while California and Nevada followed in the rear, the one with $18,000,000 and the other with but $15,000,000. Denver is somewhat of a surprise to any one who goes there expecting to see only a large and thriving western town, and find instead an elegant city of 70,000 inhabitants, with block after block of lofty brick and stone buildings in the best style of architecture; with stores—not only one, but many of them—that would be a credit to San Francisco or Chicago; with handsome equipages driving up and down the broad streets; with hotels not excelled anywhere in the nation; with railroad trains coming and going at every hour; and, better than all, with beautiful homes, surrounded by cool, broad lawns, and little children playing in the grateful shade just as if the country had been populated for hundreds of years, and had not come to the front at the waving of a wand. Financially, the Exposition will be a failure.

THAT IS SETTLED.

And it deserves to be. As the result of ill-timed speculation it is located, not in the heart of the city, as it should have been, but four miles out in the country. A few land-jobbers have made profits out of the location. But so inaccessible is the building, that two or three visits usually suffice each person. On a warm evening the streets of Denver are over-crowded with people sauntering aimlessly in search of amusement. Were the Exposition in town hundreds of these would visit it. But where it is, the attendance is always sparse and it is calculated that the financial loss will be very heavy. The building is a handsome one, in the shape of a cross, and covers in the neighborhood of 150,000 square feet. It is 500 feet long and 310 feet wide. It is intended as a permanent structure, the plan being that there shall be a mineral museum there open to geologists, miners, and the public generally, for all time. A fine view may be obtained from the tower, overlooking the stretch of fertile country around the city and commanding a fine glimpse of Pike's Peak and Long's Peak in the distance.

CALIFORNIA NOT REPRESENTED. As a mineral display the Exposition is undoubtedly a grand success. All the mineral States and territories are represented except California. The post of honor, a large space in front of the main entrance, was awarded to the latter State, but it is utterly barren and empty and leads to the frequent remark that one hears upon every hand that California mines are "played out." The Commissioner, Mr. Ewer, does all he can to correct this impression, but the contrast between the magnificent exhibits of other regions and the barrenness of this most prominent space in the building is universally set down to California's discredit. CHAS. H. PHELPS.

TO-DAY'S NEWS

Press Dispatches to EVENING GAZETTE.

EASTERN DISPATCHES.

A Romance in Real Life.

CHICAGO, September 11. The News has a story of the return of a man named Lloyd, who 80 years ago with a 14-year-old son started for California, leaving his family. Three months later the son returned and reported that Indians had attacked his father's train and that he escaped; the father's fate he reported doubtful. After seven years' mourning and getting no word from him, Mrs. Lloyd married. Her children grew up and were mated happily. The lady, who by thrift and millinery business, had acquired a competency, had wisely secured her property to her children. This angered her husband, and a divorce was obtained. Sunday morning a tall, erect, handsome, white-haired gentleman knocked at the door of the house and announced himself as B. F. Lloyd, her first husband. The father, who had driven the son from home in a rage, had supposed him dead and in grief he lost his sense of duty toward his family. He tried to make a fortune before returning, and twice succeeded and was twice robbed. The reunion is a happy one.

Comments on the Maine Elections—Blaine's Sack.

NEW YORK, September 12.

The Herald says of the Maine elections: Enough is told to show that the Greenbackers, who long have corrupted politics and common sense in that State, have gone back to their original folds. The principal result to the nation of the election will probably be that Maine will no longer have two Congressmen that will muddy public business to the best of their ability by measuring general interests by a Greenbacker's standard. Another result is the suggestion that Maine does not need to be Republican in order to remain away from the polls on a rainy day.

The World has this dispatch from Bangor: Profuse use of money has done the work. Blaine carries the State by from 10,000 to 15,000, and two-thirds of the legislative vote, Greenbackers voting largely with Republicans, and Solon Chase receiving but about 2,000 votes.

The Maine Election—A Republican Victory.

PORTLAND, September 11.

It is understood that two-thirds of the Senate and at least that proportion of the House will be Republicans. Two hundred towns give Robie 45, 415; Plaiside, 37,478; Chase, 658; Vinton, 102. Robie's plurality, 7,987 against 2,823, in 1881.

Returns for the Legislature show net Republican gains of six Senators and fourteen Representatives, giving the Republicans a majority on joint ballot.

A Level-Headed Jury.

EDWARDSVILLE, Ills., September 12.

Three drunken roughs followed with indecent proposals three women, who were in a carriage. The women sought refuge in the house of Fred. Thiess. The roughs attempted to force their way into the house. Thiess opposed them and lodged a full charge of buckshot in the abdomen of E. H. Daniels, and a coroner's jury exonerated him.

The Yellow Fever—A Gloomy City.

PENSACOLA, September 11.

To-day was the most discouraging since the fever made its appearance. Gloom seems to pervade every quarter of the city. The Board of Health report twenty new cases and two deaths the past 24 hours. Distress and want result from sickness and stagnation of business.

There were 58 new cases of fever at Brownsville, Texas, but no deaths.

An Impeachment City.

MILWAUKEE, September 7.

The city is in a financial straight, owing to the gross mismanagement of former officials and concealment by the present ones of their neglect. There is no money to carry out necessary improvements or pay interest until next year.

A Dead Robber and a Stally Wounded Conductor.

The Star Route A Scandal.

CHICAGO, September 12.

The papers have long speeches and editorials on the star route matters. The general tenor of all seems to be that the termination is absurd and weak.

Lawlessness in Arkansas.

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark., September 12.

A terrible state of lawlessness exists in southern parts of the county. Recently the United States Marshal and posse attempting to arrest two or three bad characters at the house of Jeff Gillian, were fired on and two of them wounded. Since then members of the posse have been fired on mysteriously and are in constant fear. Last Friday night an old emigrant camped on the roadside with two little boys, and was shot by Jim Webb without the slightest provocation. Since then the citizens have become fully aroused and the Sheriff with a posse of 200 is scouring the country. Webb has been arrested.

From Siberia.

WASHINGTON, September 12.

Lieutenant Harber writes from Yakutsk, June 23: "I hope to reach a hut called Matvai, near the center of the Lena delta, about July 3d. Here I will establish a provision depot and at once commence search for the people who were in Lieutenant Chipp's cutter. I propose now to make my first search to the westward of the depot, which will probably occupy the greater part of July. During August I will make a search to the eastward as far as Keana river, if necessary."

EGYPT'S TROUBLES.

English Still Preparing to Advance—Horses suffering with Glanders.

KASSASSIN, September 11.

The impatience of the army to be led forward is so obvious and the skill of General Wolsley so often proved, that it is certain some sufficient military reason must exist to account for the delay in making an advance.

ALEXANDRIA, September 11.

The Rothschild's presented the British army in Egypt 12 tons of tobacco and 5,000 pipes, which the Khedive allowed to enter duty free.

KASSASSIN, September 11.

The bulk of the English forces has arrived. The camp has the appearance of a tent city three miles long by one-half broad. The army is ready to move and will probably advance Wednesday morning. There is no doubt whatever that had we advanced Saturday we could have captured the enemy's position with ease. General Butler, who accompanied the cavalry, was actually in consultation with General Drury Lowe upon the expediency of the cavalry pushing forward to Sagazig when General Wolsley's orders arrived for the force to return to Kassassin.

ALEXANDRIA, September 11.

It is estimated that Egypt will lose nearly $70,000,000 by the war. The cotton crop, which is entirely lost, would have been worth nearly $40,000,000. There are little hopes of saving any of the sugar crop. If the country is not in a settled condition within two months it will be too late for sowing next year's cereals. Several large failures are anticipated shortly.

KASSASSIN, September 12.

The Indian cavalry horses are suffering from glanders, owing to the fall of fresh water in the canal. The lancers are unable to proceed.

The campaign has demonstrated the vast superiority of Shrapnel over the Krupp percussion shells. The English fired without haste. The consumption of ammunition by rifled averaged eight rounds per man. The British soldiers showed great kindness to the wounded Egyptians. Many gave away their water-bottles, which, under such a sun, were a necessity for their own use. The prisoners all expected instant death.

CONSTANTINOPLE, September 12.

The English council, summoned yesterday to discuss relations between Turkey and England, decided that the military convention must clearly indicate the landing place of Turkish troops in Egypt.

WESTERN TELEGRAMS.

A Railroad Disaster.

SAN FRANCISCO, September 11.

A railroad accident occurred this evening on the line of the South Pacific railroad near San Leandro. A train of six cars went off the track while crossing a trestle work, and piled up, one on the other. Engineer Simon jumped through the cab window and escaped with severe injuries. Fireman Dan Driscoll was caught under the locomotive as it went over, and was horribly crushed. Every possible effort was made to extricate him before life was extinct, but in vain. Another man whose name could not be ascertained was also killed. The accident was caused by one side of the track sinking under the weight of the train, which was a heavy one. The loss to the company will be heavy. The train was badly wrecked. A brakeman named Daley was instantly killed and the conductor's legs severely injured.

The Carson Mint Investigation Fizzle.

CARSON, September 12.

The Mint investigation closed here to-day. The action of C. N. Harris, attorney for the complainants, in withdrawing from the case, left Dr. Eckfeldt no course to pursue but to take the testimony of such witnesses as would appear. About two dozen were examined on the part of the defense, who demanded a hearing. None of the charges were sustained and nearly every allegation made by the complainants was disproved by the records of the department.

The Oregon Legislature.

SAN FRANCISCO, September 12.

A Portland dispatch says: The Legislature met at Salem yesterday, and both Houses organized. W. J. McConnell was chosen President of the Senate, and George W. McBride Speaker of the House. The organization of the Senate is unfavorable to Mitchell's Senatorial aspirations, but the opposition to him is not united on candidates.

The south-side school starts out this term with 54 scholars.

White fish and suckers are plentiful in the Truckee, but trout are scarce.

Joseph Ferretto, the Italian who committed suicide, was buried to-day.

Round trip tickets to Sacramento will be sold at $17 during the fair there.

Celluloid breast-pins at Nash's. Thermometer at 7, 9, 11, 3—76, 79, 80, 84, 84.

Ten car-loads of beef cattle from Winnemucca passed through here this morning. They were shipped by Hardin.

Joe Kennedy has sold his fine house to Mr. Fassett, father of Mrs. C. T. Bender. Thus Reno gains another good citizen.

Indians brought in four fat deer this morning, which found ready sale. The reds seem to beat the whites in capturing game.

Charley Zigler's team, attached to a butcher wagon, took a spin around a few blocks at an early hour this morning. No damage.

Do not forget the auction sale this evening. Dry goods will go at the people's prices. The sale will only be open a short time this evening.

Reno can boast of a pinto sheep, probably the only one in the world. As Barnum is a GAZETTE subscriber, he will see the item and send an agent to secure the rare animal.

Mr. Fowler has treated his yard fence to a couple of coats of paint. Could not some others emulate his enterprise and good taste?

SAGEBRUSH.

Grace Before Meat.

A little fellow happened in at meal time where grace was said and the lady of the house patronizingly asked him if his papa said grace. He answered, "Oh, yes; but not that way." She asked him how he did it, and he spoke up promptly: "He says, God Almighty, what a dinner!"

THE SHARP-SHOOTERS.

The Virginia Team Wins the Leather Medal.

Owing to lack of space yesterday the GAZETTE made no mention of the fact that the team sent to the Miners' picnic last Saturday by the Reno Guard to contest in the military shooting showed themselves capable of at least something better than cow-shooting. As will be seen by the following scores they improved on their first attempt by nearly 100 points, and had the team practiced a little more before the match and so have been able to shoot as well the last round as the first, Reno would probably have carried off the first or second prize. As it was they beat one team, which is worthy of note, considering that it was their second attempt. The following is the score of the Reno team: Rogers...4 3 4 4 0 3 2 0 4 27 Stoddard...4 3 4 4 4 5 4 5 4 40 Church...5 4 4 3 3 4 0 4 3 34 Hoy...4 3 4 5 3 4 3 3 0 31 Myers...4 4 4 3 4 2 4 3 3 33 Leonard...3 2 2 5 4 2 4 2 3 30 Conkling...2 3 2 3 3 3 3 2 2 27 Teasland...4 4 4 3 3 3 4 4 3 38 Pavola...3 3 3 3 2 3 3 2 2 27 Matthews...4 4 4 2 2 3 3 2 4 33 322

The scores of the other teams were: Emmett Guard 406, Carson Guard 402, Washington Guard 376, National Guard 381, Montgomery Guard 376, Virginia Guard 314. Galusha of the Emmetts made the best and M. Burke of the same team the second best individual score—45 each. R. Field of the Virginia Guard made 25, the lowest score, winning the leather medal and $10. After the match was over Stoddard of Reno made 26 out of a possible 30 points at the 500-yard target, which was remarkably good shooting for the first attempt at that distance.

A REPUBLICAN CLUB.

The Young Men of Reno Organizing for the Campaign.

About thirty of the young men who signed the call for a young man's Republican club met at Reform Club Hall last evening, and a temporary organization was formed. G. W. Conkling was elected Chairman of the meeting and W. S. Lake Secretary. Mr. Conkling, as Chairman, called the meeting to order, and briefly stated the intentions of the club, and the causes for organizing. Four committees were appointed to perfect the organization of the club. On the Committee on Permanent Organization the Chair appointed E. L. Bridges, J. Donnellie and E. McArthur; on Rules and Regulations—W. Waggoner, C. Colburn and M. T. Benham; on Platform—A. C. Bragg, S. J. Bryant and W. S. Lake; and on a committee to make necessary arrangements for an opening entertainment to be given on Tuesday, September 19, A. C. Bragg and M. T. Benham were appointed. On the evening of that date the club will be permanently organized in public. The young men are going to work with a vigor that would well-become any political party, and when the club is once under headway will no doubt become an ornament and power in the Republican party.

Thirty-Three Years Ago.

Yesterday was the thirty-third anniversary of Harry Clawson's arrival in California in the bark Rising Sun "by the horn around." His fellow Argonauts are pretty well thinned out, but the ties of friendship among the few remaining are strengthened by varied memories, and when the anniversary of their arrival comes round they think of each other. This morning Harry sent the following dispatch to John F. Lohse, of the California Powder Company—one of those who have not succumbed to the vicissitudes of pioneer life: "Another anniversary of our arrival. Let us drink to the memory of our fellow Argonauts who have gone on their last journey."

Mammoth Locomotives.

The largest locomotive ever built has just been completed at Patterson, N. J., for the Central Pacific Railroad, and two dozen more of the same kind will be constructed. They are similar to the "Mammoth," built a few months since at the Sacramento machine shops, and now at work on the heavy Tahachapi grade in Southern California. The locomotive just finished will pass through Reno in a few days, when people will have a chance to view the monster.

Conductors on the V. & T.

The resignation of Ed. Verrill, who has been in charge of the 7 A. M. train to Virginia, has caused several changes and positions on the road. Wm. Havenor—a very popular man—takes the first train, and Charles Thrall gets Havenor's place on the 8:30 local. Jerry Bray, who has been brakeman on the local, takes Thrall's situation as freight conductor between Carson and Virginia.

Tea Shipments.

During the past week the Central Pacific sent through Reno 1,410 tons of tea for the Eastern market by six special fast "tea trains," which take precedence of everything except passenger trains. This is the largest shipment made for seven years past. Most of the tea came from the China steamship Coptic, now lying in San Francisco harbor.

Royalty in Reno.

The Marquis of Lorne and the Princess Louise and suite arrived at Reno to-day by special train about two o'clock. Quite a crowd assembled at the depot to get a sight of the illustrious tourists. The Marquis appeared and shook hands with ladies and gentlemen, but the Princess was not to be seen. Lorne is a lanky, good-looking man of 30 years or so, dressed in a Lake Tahoe fishing suit, with a blue shirt and red face, and apparently very jolly. At any rate if he isn't jolly under the circumstances that surround him he would be queer timber. The party consisted of the Marquis of Lorne, Princess Louise, Mrs. Hervey and Miss McNeill, ladies-in-waiting to the Princess, Colonel DeWinton, the Governor's Private Secretary; Hon. Captain Bogot, Aide-de-Camp; Mr. J. Bogot; Col. Tourtelotte of General Sherman's staff, who accompanies the party on their trip to San Francisco as a representative of the United States; Dr. Barnie, a clerk, two orderlies and eight servants.

Renewing the Search For Larcombe's Body.

Messrs. Hymers, Hammond and Sanders will send teams up the river to-morrow, conveying a party to continue the search for Mr. Larcombe's body, and call for volunteers to assist in the work. It is probable that Mr. Lee will send a team also. Parties who volunteer are requested to meet at Hymers stable at 7 o'clock in the morning, dressed for the occasion, and it is suggested that they take a lunch along. The water will be shut off from the lake in order to aid the searchers. The conveyances will have seats for twenty persons.

A Fair Prospect.
